

Oxford Cambridge and RSA

Wednesday 11 November 2020 – Afternoon

GCSE (9–1) History A (Explaining the Modern World)

J410/06 International Relations: the changing international order 1918–c.2001 with The USA 1919–1948: The People and the State

Time allowed: 1 hour 45 minutes

You must have:

- the OCR 12-page Answer Booklet

INSTRUCTIONS

- Use black ink.
- Write your answer to each question in the Answer Booklet. The question numbers must be clearly shown.
- Fill in the boxes on the front of the Answer Booklet.
- Answer all the questions.

INFORMATION

- The total mark for this paper is 105.
- The marks for each question are shown in brackets [].
- Quality of extended response will be assessed in questions marked with an asterisk (*).
- Spelling, punctuation and grammar (SPaG) and the use of specialist terminology will be assessed in questions marked with a pencil (✎).
- This document has 4 pages.

ADVICE

- Read each question carefully before you start your answer.

Section AInternational Relations: the changing international order 1918–c.2001

Answer all the questions.

You are advised to spend about 1 hour on this section.

1 Outline the actions of Al-Qaeda in the period 1995–2001. [5]

2 Explain why countries lost confidence in the League of Nations in the 1930s. [10]

3 Study Interpretation A.

Do you think this interpretation is a fair comment on Chamberlain and the policy of Appeasement between 1937 and 1939? Use your knowledge and other interpretations of British policy towards Germany between these dates to support your answer. [25]

4 Study Interpretation B.

Explain why not all historians and commentators have agreed with this interpretation of the early stages of the Cold War. Use other interpretations and your knowledge to support your answer. [20]

() Spelling, punctuation and grammar and the use of specialist terminology [5]

Interpretation A

When Mr Chamberlain stepped out of his airplane on the return from Munich, he said, 'This means peace in our time'.

Nobody can say that Mr Chamberlain deliberately told a lie. Mr Chamberlain said this because he believed it. He believed that when Hitler signed that little piece of paper he could be trusted. He believed that Hitler – who had built up his dictatorship through treachery and lies – had changed. Mr Chamberlain trusted Hitler and believed Hitler was a changed man. This belief must have been based on his mind reading powers, because during all three of his meetings with Hitler, Mr Chamberlain never spoke to him.

From 'Guilty Men' by Cato, published in 1940.

Interpretation B

American leaders had come to believe it was necessary and right to expand America's influence. America's policies offered the Russians no real choice. Particularly after the atom bomb was created and used, the attitude of the United States left the Soviets with only one real option; either to accept American dominance or to confront them.

From 'The Tragedy of American Diplomacy', written by the US historian William Appleman Williams and first published in the USA in 1960.

Please turn over for SECTION B

Section B

The USA 1919–1948: The People and the State

Answer all the questions.

You are advised to spend about 45 minutes on this section.

- 5 Describe one impact of Executive Order 8802. [2]
- 6 Explain how US women’s lives changed during the Second World War. [10]
- 7 Study Sources A and B. Which source is more reliable as evidence about Roosevelt’s qualities? [10]

Source A

Roosevelt lacks a firm grasp of public affairs and lacks strong convictions. He is a friendly man with many generous impulses, but he is no fighter. He is not an enemy of privileged people and inherited wealth. He is a pleasant man who, without any important qualifications for the office, would very much like to be President.

An extract from an article by Walter Lippmann writing in January 1932. Lippmann was a very influential American journalist who was sympathetic to the Communist Party.

Source B

The speech of Franklin D. Roosevelt accepting the Democratic nomination for the Presidency rings out over the country with the full clear tone of unmistakable sincerity and purpose. It is a speech from the heart of a sound American, shaped into convincing words and phrases in the mind of a man whose capacity for public service has been clearly demonstrated. It is in all respects a great speech.

An extract from a newspaper article in The Seattle Daily Times on July 3, 1932. Until 1932 this newspaper was strongly Republican.

- 8* ‘In the 1920s it was impossible for minority groups to overcome prejudice and intolerance.’ How far do you agree with this statement? [18]

END OF QUESTION PAPER

OCR

Oxford Cambridge and RSA

Copyright Information

OCR is committed to seeking permission to reproduce all third-party content that it uses in its assessment materials. OCR has attempted to identify and contact all copyright holders whose work is used in this paper. To avoid the issue of disclosure of answer-related information to candidates, all copyright acknowledgements are reproduced in the OCR Copyright Acknowledgements Booklet. This is produced for each series of examinations and is freely available to download from our public website (www.ocr.org.uk) after the live examination series.

If OCR has unwittingly failed to correctly acknowledge or clear any third-party content in this assessment material, OCR will be happy to correct its mistake at the earliest possible opportunity.

For queries or further information please contact The OCR Copyright Team, The Triangle Building, Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8EA.

OCR is part of the Cambridge Assessment Group; Cambridge Assessment is the brand name of University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), which is itself a department of the University of Cambridge.